A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as a dangerous thing to treat a liver with drugs. Start with the stomach and all the organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretion of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, dependent, frequent headaches, pain in the back, "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, or "rising" in throat after eating, and all the symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot food and breads, eat only bland and nourishing food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to it until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is a non-toxic, non-alcoholic, is a genuine extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret medicine of known composition.

FIGHTING IN GREECE

After almost 2,000 years—when Themistocles gained a memorable victory over the Persians—Salamis again yesterday was the scene of a naval battle. The fight continued twenty minutes between 60 battleships and big warships on the one side, and the mutinous band of naval officers which quitted the capital Wednesday, with torpedo boats, on the other.

The first shots were fired soon after 4 o'clock and a sharp exchange of shell followed. Some of the projectiles struck the arsenal buildings, although not one shell hit a torpedo boat—his Sphenodon—which immediately was enveloped in a cloud of smoke.

During the action the torpedo boats gradually retired, streaming backwards until they obtained the shelter of the headland, when the firing ceased. The rebel vessels, while the engagement was in progress, returned the fire of the warships and fired batteries, but apparently little damage was done on either side. The rebels were led by Lieutenant Tibold and are reported to have numbered 300 men.

Athens remained quiet last night, but much suppressed excitement prevails. An official statement has been issued, stating that the arsenal, which was in the hands of the rebels, has been recaptured and that the mutinous torpedo boats are expected to surrender.

The cause of the naval revolt in Greece is to be found probably in the recent failure of the Greek cause in Crete, which the powers, upon Turkey's protest, removed the Hellenic flag, which had been hoisted at Candia. This failure to secure Crete was popularly blamed to governmental inefficiency, and, as a result, several weeks ago two battalions of troops at Athens mutinied.

The cause of the mutinies was composed by the Military League, which on October 15, forced the Chamber of Deputies to vote a measure abolishing the right of the crown prince to hold the other princes to hold military commands. Earlier in the day King George had persuaded his sons, the Prince Constantine, George, Nicholas and Christopher, to resign their commissions in the military.

Upon the passage of the military bills in the Chamber of Deputies 30 loyalist members showed their disapproval by withdrawing from the chamber. These loyalists insisted that the Military League was determined to force the king to abdicate. Others thought the crisis passed with the retirement of the prince, but likely to arise again through the Creteans returning deputies to the chamber at the next election.

However, the Military League was not satisfied with the humiliation of the royal family, and on last Wednesday issued an ultimatum demanding the enactment within 24 hours of an ordinance suspending all promotions for five years, the abolition of the post, of rear admiral heretofore held by King George, together with two vice admirals and 15 positions of lesser rank.

The premier offered a compromise in the form of a bill altering the age limit for superannuation from 65 years to 58 years. This was not satisfactory to the league, and on Wednesday night 30 naval officers retired to the island of Salamis, upon which an arsenal is situated. Yesterday the royalist officers seized the arsenal in open revolt.

WEST VIRGINIA DEBT SETTLEMENT.

Ex-Congressman Charles E. Littleton, appointed by the U. S. Supreme Court as referee to take evidence in the West Virginia debt settlement case, will give a final hearing on the matter November 4. Following that Mr. Littleton expects to prepare his report as speedily as possible and in the opinion of those interested in the case, a final judgment should be rendered by the U. S. Supreme Court early next year. This will put an end to litigation between Virginia and West Virginia which has been in progress for nearly a generation.

In anticipation of a comparatively near settlement of the case there recently has been some revival of activity in the West Virginia certificates, which are now quoted at 45 to 47. In former years the price of the issue has fluctuated violently, declining to around 5, then rallying to 15 or 20 and subsequently falling to the low level in response to the changing sentiment and legal proceedings involved in the matter.

Most of the evidence in the case has now been submitted. The province of Mr. Littleton is to determine the amount of the debt which West Virginia shall be required to settle, whether the state shall be compelled to pay up the face value of the amount allotted to her or whether that shall be scaled down. The Supreme Court will, of course, have to pass upon the referee's report.

SIGNED ARTICLES FOR FIGHT.

Jack Johnson and James J. Jeffries—for the negro insisted that as present champion his name should go first—signed articles in New York late yesterday afternoon binding them to fight 45 or more rounds to a finish, not later than July 5, 1910, before the club offering the best financial inducement, the winner to take a side bet of $10,000 and 75 per cent. of the purse the loser to take 25 per cent.

Jeffries eyed the negro curiously when he entered the Hotel Albany, but did not meet his glance. Johnson was affable, but showed his nervousness by his frequent grins and his constant clicking of two red dice, which he carried half concealed in the palm of his right hand.

It was agreed, without dispute, that the men would box for the "heavy-weight championship of the world."
